Subject: Signatures needed: Demand 2018 candidates support “jobs for all” plan

Roger,

Donald Trump and the Republicans claimed their tax cuts for the big corporations and the wealthy would create new jobs and raise wages for people like us. Instead, they are using the tax cuts to buy back their own stock, giving windfall bonuses to their stockholders and CEOs. But we aren't getting jobs or higher wages.

How can we fight back? Here's a great idea: Senator Bernie Sanders wants to guarantee a job paying at least $15 an hour (with health care benefits) to “every American worker who wants or needs one.” Senators Kirsten Gillibrand and Cory Booker have embraced similar plans.

Sign the petition to demand all 2018 candidates say if they support a “jobs for all” plan — like Bernie Sanders’ — that invests in U.S. workers and lifts up working families.

America needs to create millions of jobs — to rebuild our public infrastructure and move to a renewable energy future. Already, 10,000 Americans have pledged to fight for such an economic agenda.¹

Tax cuts for the rich won't create good jobs in communities harmed by racism, segregation, or runaway factories or rural isolation. A nation-wide job guarantee will revitalize neighborhoods and entire regions — and it will better prepare us against the next economic recession.

Tell politicians to run on big ideas that support working people. In the wake of the great recession, as many communities continue to struggle, we need politicians to invest in American families, not tax breaks for the richest 1%.

Sign the petition to ask all candidates running in 2018: Do you support a “jobs for all” plan for every U.S. worker who wants a job, which pays at least $15 an hour and provides critical health care benefits?

We at the Campaign for America’s Future are committed to fighting for good jobs and economic justice. That’s why we’re partnering with Our Revolution and Progressive Democrats of America to shine a spotlight on Washington hypocrisy and advance an agenda that creates good jobs and lifts up working families.

Sign now to join us in demanding an economy that works for everyone, not just Big Business and the wealthy few.

Thank you,
